

User Interface

1 Login page

Figure 1 Login page

Login page use CMU authentication. You may first start with read through about our privacy of the website and then login into our website by clicking on “Login with CMU account”. Note this website can login with only CMU account.

2 Home page

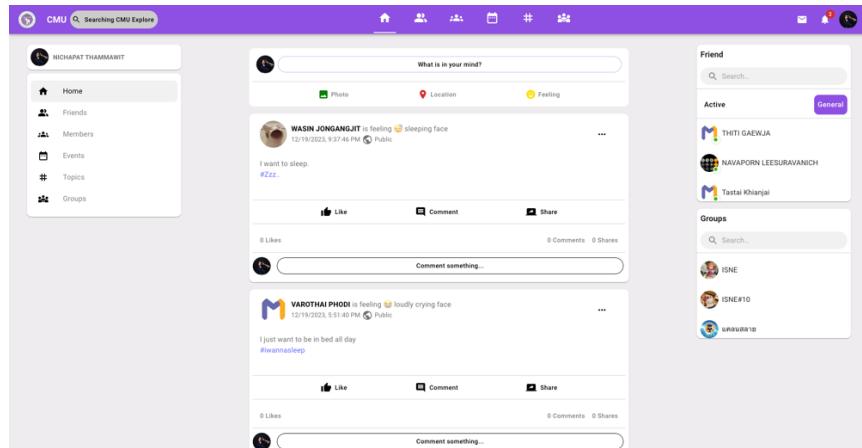

Figure 2.1 Home page

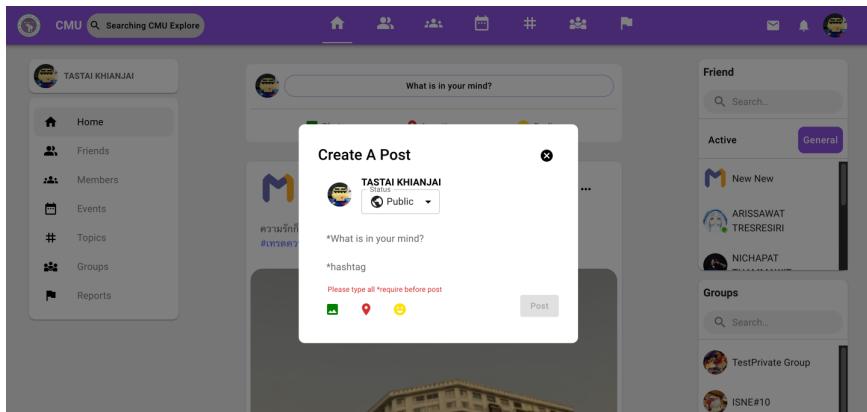

Figure 2.2 Post content box

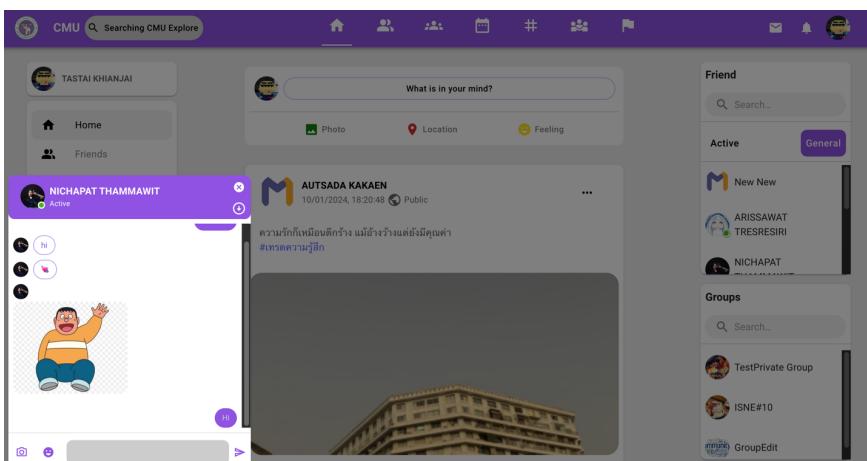

Figure 2.3 Post content box

Home page (Figure 2.1) is the first page that user will see after login. The page containing with at the left-side it is profile image and name, and all navigate icons and name that link to another patch. Next in the middle, it is all contents that was posted by other users. Only status friend and public were shown here. Moreover, there is a box of posting content where user can click at the button “What is in your mind?”, and then it would pop a box card as figure 2.2. Last one is at the right-side, there are two box which are friend-lists name and group-list name where a user can click and chat with others as figure 2.3.

3 Members page

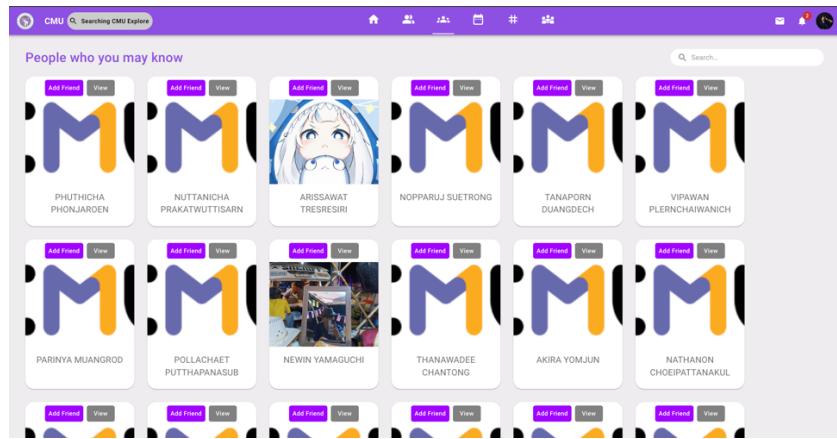

Figure 3 Members page

The Members page is the page for showing all users who are login into this platform. All users can add friend with others and starting to interact with each other by clicking on button “Add friend” and can view other’s profile by clicking on button “view”.

4 Event lists page

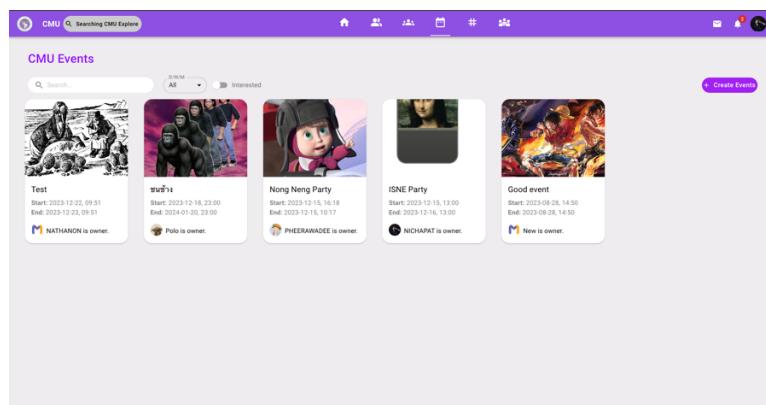

Figure 4.1 Event lists page

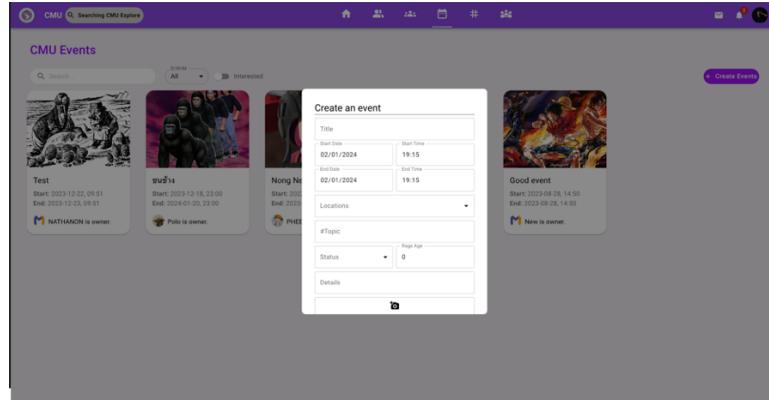

Figure 4.2 Create an event

The CMU Events page allows users to browse and filter upcoming events at Chiang Mai University. Users can refine their search based on event category, date, and location. Upon selecting an event, users can view its details, including title, date, time, location, and description. Additionally, users can add a new event by clicking on button “Create Events”, then the pop-up card of create an event would show up as figure 4.2.

5 Events page

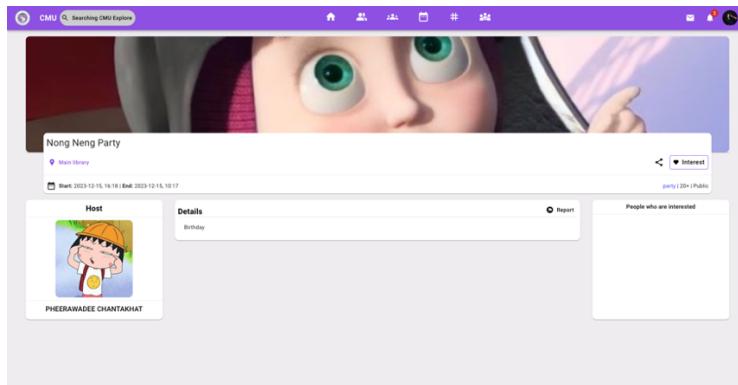

Figure 5.1 Event page

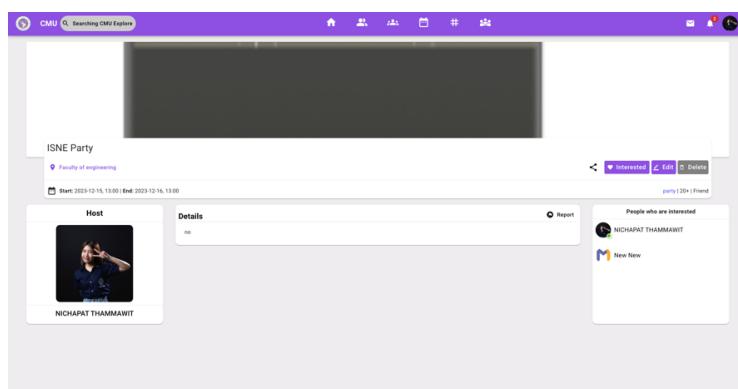

Figure 5.2 Host-view Events page

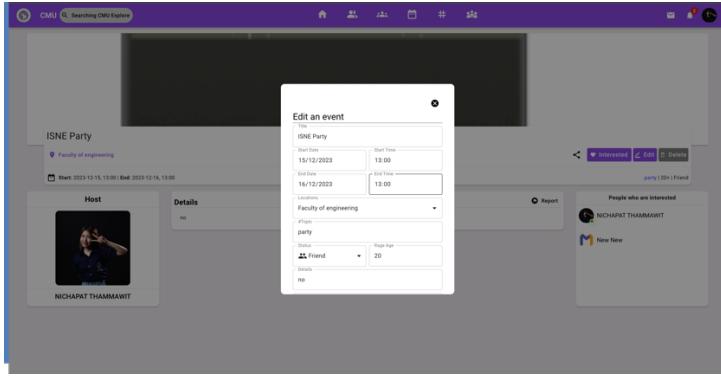

Figure 5.3 Host-view Events page

If a user clicks into an event card from event list page, then it will pass them to Event page (Figure 5.1) where provides comprehensive information about a specific. Users can view the event's title, date, time, location, description, and list of people who are interest on this event (the user who clicked on button Interest). Additionally, there is a feature for sharing event at the icon at interested button. Lastly, if you are the owner of the event, there are two more button which are edit and delete event (Figure 5.2 and Figure 5.3).

6 Topics page

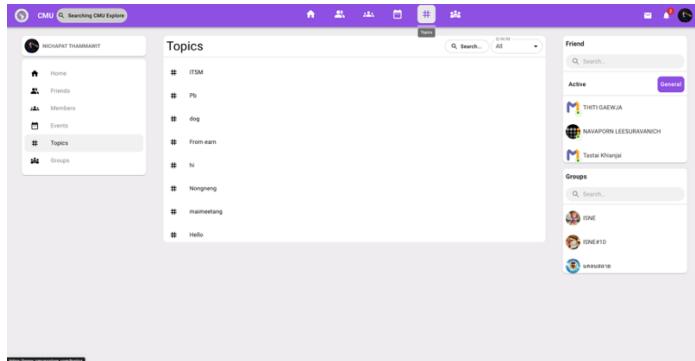

Figure 6.1 Topics page

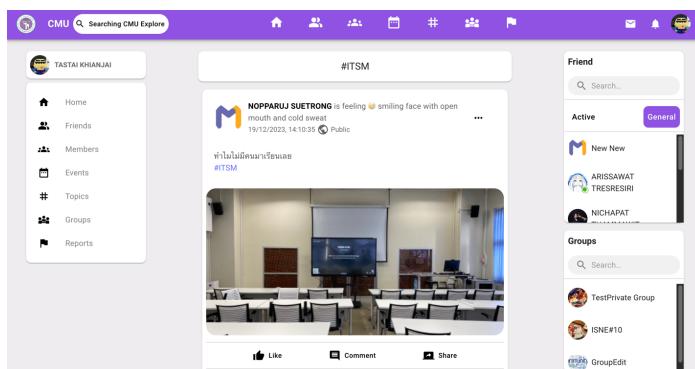

Figure 6.2 Topics page

The Topics page (Figure 6.1) provides a central location for users to browse, filter, and discover various topics of interest. Users can explore the extensive list of topics, refine their search using filters based on topic name, popularity, and category. Upon selecting a topic, users are directed to the topic page (Figure 6.2), where they can gain contents that relate to that topic.

7 Group-list page

This screenshot shows the CMU Group-list page. On the left, there is a sidebar with navigation links: Home, Friends, Members, Events, Topics, and Groups. The Groups link is currently selected. The main content area displays a list of groups with their names: uunuuuu18, ISNE, ISNE#10, and GroupEdit. To the right of the group list, there is a 'Friend' section with a search bar and a list of active friends: THITI GAEWJA, NAVAPORN LEESURAVANICH, and Tastai Kharajai. Below the friend section is another 'Groups' section with a search bar and a list of groups: ISNE, ISNE#10, and uunuuuu18.

Figure 7.1 Group-list page

This screenshot shows the CMU Group-list page with a 'Create group' pop-up card open. The card has fields for 'Group Name', 'Members', 'Status', and 'Details'. There is also a placeholder for 'Add cover photo'. At the bottom of the card are 'Cancel' and 'Create' buttons. The background of the page shows the same group list and friend sections as Figure 7.1.

Figure 7.2 Create group pop-up card

The website's group list page (Figure 7.1) serves as a central location for visitors to look through and interact with different groups. With names, and it offers a complete list of all the groups that are currently in operation. Search results may be filtered by category and name. When users choose a group, a comprehensive page including the group's name, description, photo, and members is displayed. Moreover, it provides a feature for adding a group by clicking at button “Create Group” and the fill all information that pop-up card requiring (Figure 7.2).

8      Group page

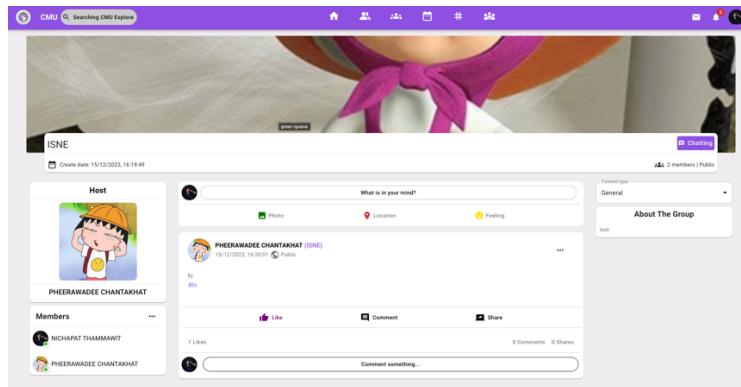

Figure 8.1 Group page

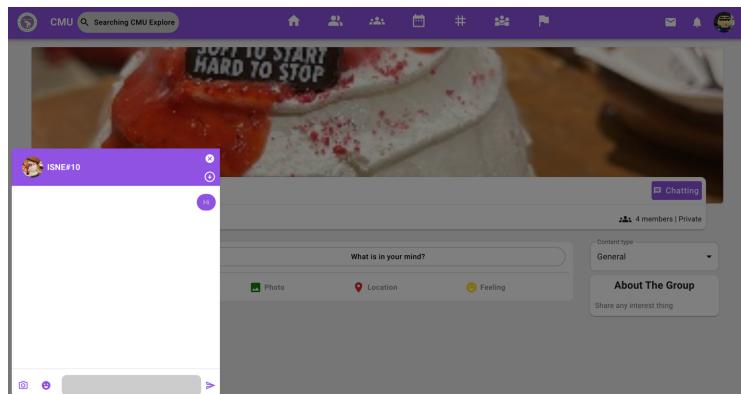

Figure 8.2 Group chat

The Group page (Figure 8.1) where shows the details about the group including name, host, member, and description about the group. If you are a member, you would be able to add some contents to group’s feed and also be able to chat with other members by clicking at button “Chatting” and it will pop-up chat card at the left-side (Figure 8.2).

9 Host-view Group page

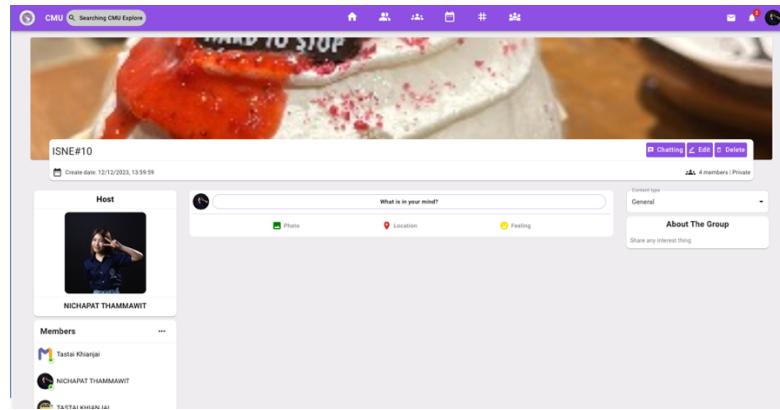

Figure 9.1 Host-view Group page

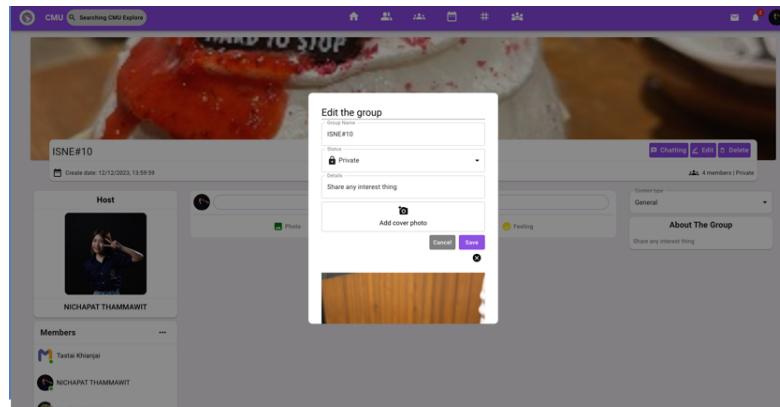

Figure 9.2 Host-view edit Group page

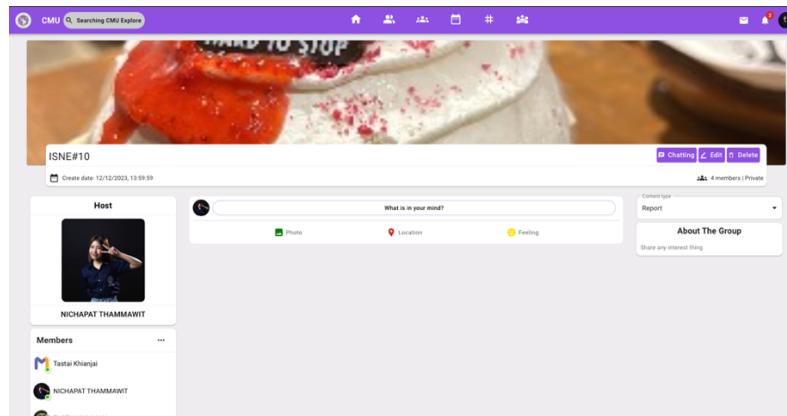

Figure 9.3 Host-view Group page report content

If you are the host of the group, there are two more button which are edit and delete (Figure 9.1). Then as a host you can modify the information of your groups by clicking at button “Edit” and edit all information through pop-up card (Figure 9.2). In addition, there is report content management by select to the select box name “Content type” (Figure 9.3) at the right-side. As a host, they can delete any contents from the group if it was reported by any member.

10 Profile page

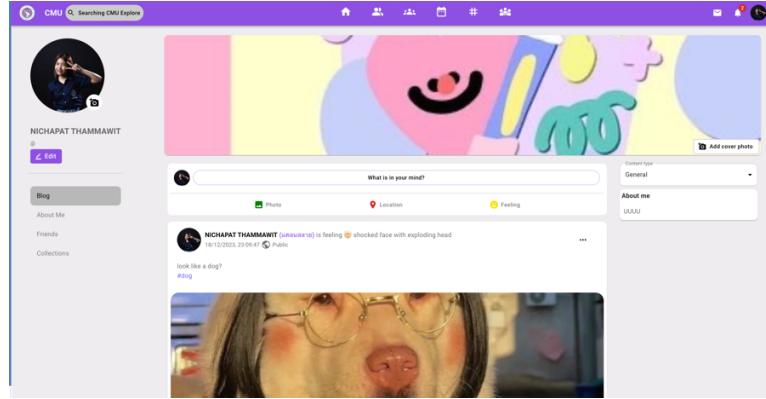

Figure 10 Profile page

The Profile page (Figure 10) serves as a central hub for users to manage their personal information, social connections, and account settings. Upon accessing the page, users can view their profile details, name, email address, profile picture, a brief bio, and a list of their friends, groups, and posts. To modify any of this information, users can simply click on the "Edit Profile" button.

11 About me page

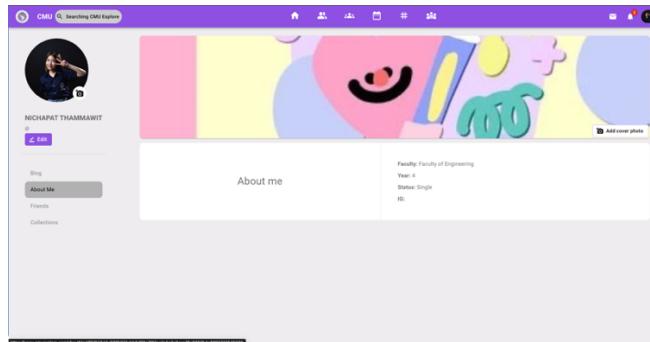

Figure 11.1 About me page

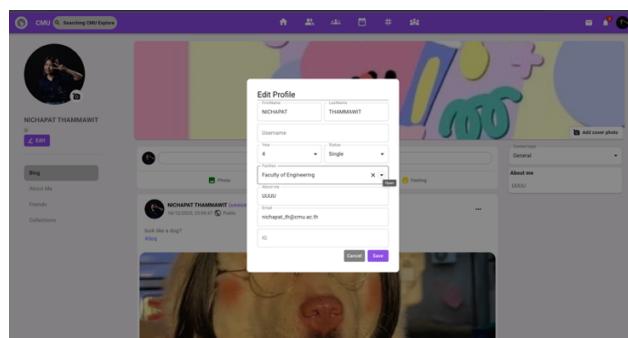

Figure 11.2 Edit profile card

A detailed summary of a user's background, including education, work experience, hobbies, and social media presence, can be shown on the About Me page (Figure 11.1). The user's name and profile photo show up at the top of the page, followed by a self-editable introduction. Users can highlight their experience, education, successes, and hobbies by adding or deleting important data of their information by clicking at button "Edit". Then edit and add all information that you would like to at pop-up edit profile card (Figure 11.2).

12 Friends page

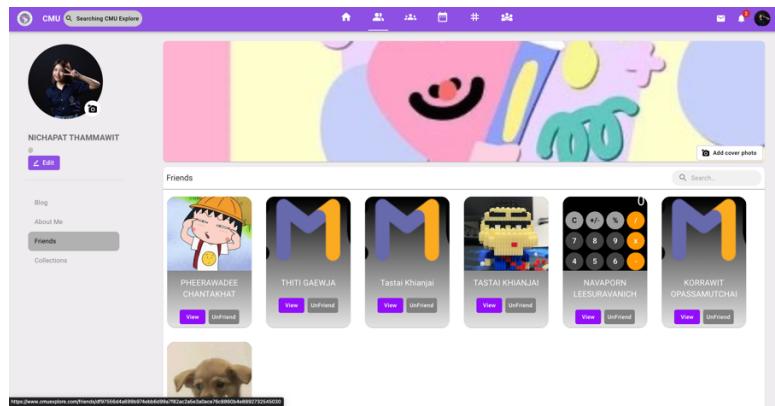

Figure 12 Friend page

Friend page. A list of friends is displayed, complete with names and profile photographs. In there the user can do view each friend profile or delete friend by clicking at button "UnFriend".

13 Collections page

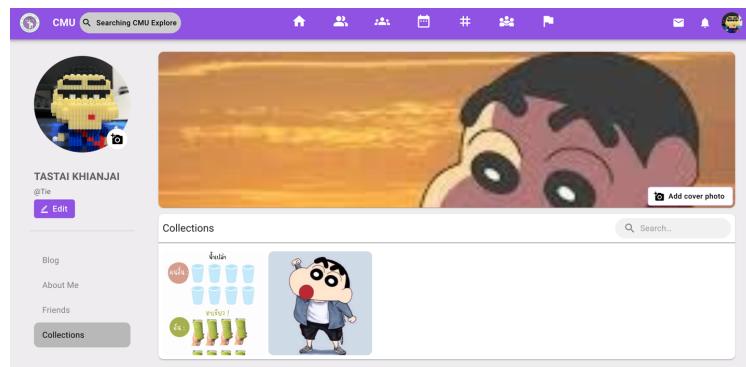

Figure 13.1 Collections page

Figure 13.2 Collections page content with full screen

Collections page (Figure 13.1), where located of all user pictures that have posted by user. Moreover, if user click at a picture, it will then pop-up the content of that picture with full screen as figure 13.2.

14 Content report

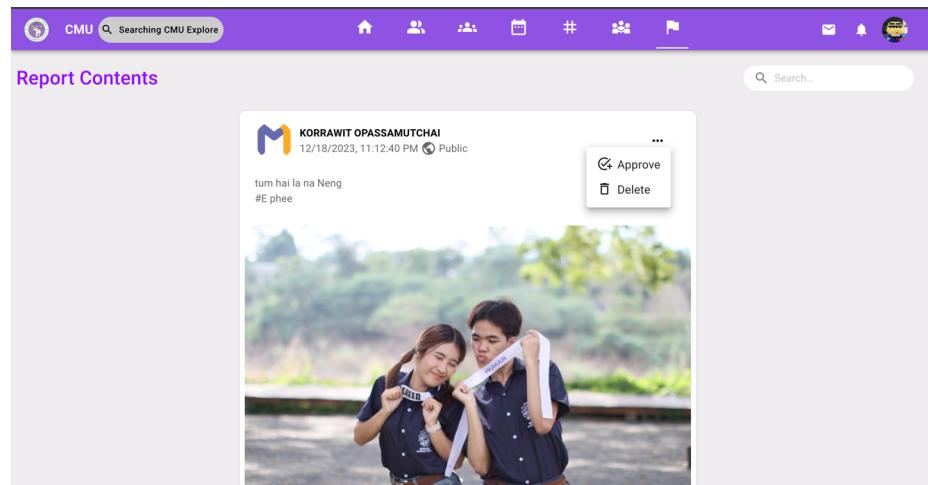

Figure 14 Content report

The content report page is the page where is containing all reported contents from other users. This page allows me as the amin of the website can access into the page. It uses as content management where allow me to design whether to delete the content or not.